CleanCarbon Participates in CII Automotive Summit

Carbon compliance isn't a future risk—it's today's line item. The CBAM price directly mirrors the weighted average of EU ETS auction clearing prices. As EU emissions rules tighten, imported embedded carbon costs are surging. 2026 is CBAM applicable year. Right now, prices are calculated and published quarterly. But starting in 2027, the EU switches to weekly price tracking on the central platform. Read more...

CBAM Verification Guide 2026: Accreditation Rules, Audit Steps, and Audit Readiness

For industrial operators and exporters across sectors like iron, steel, ferro-alloys, and aluminium, actual emissions data must be formally verified by an accredited third party before an EU importer can file an annual CBAM declaration. Rooted directly in official European regulatory frameworks and operational guidance established by CleanCarbon.ai and EEPC India outreach standards, this CBAM verification guide breaks down the legal verification stack, the step-by-step audit cycle, and the exact evidentiary file required to pass an EU audit in 2026. How Vividh Wires Unblocked 1,175 MT of EU Stainless Steel Exports with CleanCarbon.ai

"At Vividh Wires, we prioritise clean and transparent sustainability reporting. When our EU buyers began requesting CBAM compliance, we had many questions about how to proceed. The CleanCarbon.ai team visited our Greater Noida facility to audit our emissions documentation and train our staff. Their deep technical expertise, intuitive software, and clear understanding of regulatory frameworks gave us complete confidence. Beyond streamlined CBAM reporting, they helped us identify practical ways to minimize our overall tax exposure."
